Course Description -

The purpose of this course is to provide percussion students with rehearsal and performance experience within a steel band setting.

Goals for the course

Students will perform a wide variety of steel band literature. This experience will enable the students to receive instruction and perform on many different steel drums, perform in other than an accompaniment role, learn to listen to the instruments of their own family, and familiarize themselves with this ever-growing genre. Students will develop practical skills in ensemble functionality (including rehearsal techniques, balance, and ensemble musicality) as well as gain a greater understanding of the repertoire through discussion and performance of both historically-significant and forward-looking contemporary works.

Expectations for the course

Students are expected to prepare assignments before rehearsals and be ready to perform at each class meeting. Students will perform a variety of steel band literature, and will perform concerts each semester.

Grading

Steel Band II is an ensemble performance class. Therefore, the grade is based on attendance (see below) and performance. For each piece of music, a set of part assignments/goals will be outlined by the instructor. A high level of preparation of these part assignments/goals is expected. The course grade will be based on regular rehearsal attendance and individual preparation in rehearsals and performances. Being prepared for each rehearsal, making a positive contribution to the ensemble as a unit, and outstanding performance/preparation will result in a grade of “A” for the semester. Being well prepared for rehearsal means knowing your part (i.e. not learning your part during rehearsal) and being ready to learn how your part contributes to the ensemble. This will be assessed throughout the semester.

Attendance

Attendance at all steel band rehearsals and performances is mandatory. An unexcused absence from a performance will result in a grade of “F” in the course for the semester.

- All absences are unexcused unless approved by the Ensemble Director.

- Every unexcused absence will result in your grade being lowered by one letter.
- Two tardies count as one absence.

Attendance may be excused only by the Ensemble Director with verification from the Dean of Students office.

Grading Scheme

A – Well prepared for all rehearsals, no unexcused absences from rehearsals

B – Well prepared for all rehearsals, one unexcused absence from a rehearsal

C – Well prepared for all rehearsals, two unexcused absences from rehearsals

F – Well prepared for all rehearsals, three or more unexcused absences from rehearsals

OR

F – Well prepared for all rehearsals, unexcused absence from a performance

Learning Outcomes

1. Students will identify steel band repertoire through the study of a variety of literature.
2. Students will identify historical knowledge of performance practice in the repertoire being studied.
3. Students will apply their knowledge of theoretical issues pertaining to the repertoire being studied.
4. Students will develop technical skills needed to perform specific styles of music being studied.
5. Students will develop critical thinking skills about music through analysis, critical listening, and performance evaluation.
6. Students will demonstrate and create a successful performance of the repertoire assigned.

Program Outcomes

Steel band participation provides an opportunity for students to foster excellence in performance and creativity, while affirming music as an integral part of a classic liberal arts education.

Prerequisites

Satisfactory audition and/or approval of the instructor.

Required Materials

Students are expected to purchase sticks and/or mallets needed for their part assignments. Sticks and/or mallets may be obtained from music stores and/or internet sites such as:

Steve Weiss Music <https://www.steveweissmusic.com>

Teaching Philosophy

The faculty believe that learning occurs through doing and this is especially true in the field of ensemble performance. We believe in a student-centered learning environment where the student and teacher together explore the music, the composer's intent, and possible solutions to technical problems and musical interpretation. The teacher's role is to create an environment for learning where students are challenged and inspired to find their own musical voice.

Instructional Methods

Students will meet learning outcomes through steel band rehearsals, sectional rehearsal time, individual practice time, group discussions, and self-assessment.

Performances

The steel band will perform a concert each semester on campus. Off campus performances are also a possibility. All performances will be scheduled as far in advance as possible.

Practice

All students must come to rehearsal with your parts learned and ready to rehearse.

Dress

Concert black (tuxedo or long dress) or black shirt, black pants, black socks, and black shoes. The Director and the venue of performance will determine the exact dress.

Hearing Health And Injury Prevention

The School of Music recognizes the importance of educating students about current musician health issues. As a part of their regular curricular study in the applied teaching studio, students and teachers will consider and discuss music-induced hearing loss and the prevention of performance related injuries. Students will also be made aware of the available professional resources to address these musician health issues by their instructor.

Technology PoliciesTechnology Expectations

All students should have access to a reliable high-speed internet connection and technology capable of running Zoom as well as other standard programs (Microsoft Office, Adobe Creative Suite). Students who do not have access to these technologies should contact their instructor for additional guidance.

Email

Only the official TCU student email address will be used for all course notification. It is your responsibility to check your TCU email on a regular basis. Instructors will try to return emails within 24-48 hours.

Course Materials

TCU students are prohibited from sharing any portion of course materials (including videos, PowerPoint slides, assignments, or notes) with others, including on social media, without written permission by the course instructor. Accessing, copying, transporting (to another person or location), modifying, or destroying programs, records, or data belonging to TCU or another user without authorization, whether such data is in transit or storage, is prohibited. The full policy can be found at: <https://security.tcu.edu/polproc/usage-policy/>.

Violating this policy is considered a violation of Section 3.2.15 of the Student Code of Conduct (this policy may be found in the Student Handbook at <https://tcu.codes/code/index/>), and may also constitute Academic Misconduct or Disruptive Classroom Behavior (these policies may be found in the undergraduate catalog at <https://tcu.smartcatalogiq.com/current/Undergraduate-Catalog/Student-Policies/Academic-Conduct-Policy-Details>). TCU encourages student debate and discourse; accordingly, TCU generally interprets and applies its policies, including the policies referenced above, consistent with the values of free expression and First Amendment principles.

Use of Box.com

Courses in the College of Fine Arts may use the cloud-based storage program Box (tcu.box.com) to house assignments and course materials too large for TCU Online. Course Box folders should be treated as extensions of the TCU Online site, and the same rules regarding sharing and Academic Misconduct apply.

TCU Policy for Religious Observations & Holidays

“Students who are unable to participate in a class, in any related assignment or in a university required activity because of the religious observance of a holy day shall be provided with a reasonable opportunity to make up the examination or assignment, without penalty, provided that it does not create an unreasonable burden on the University.” For more information, please visit the TCU Policy for Religious Observations & Holidays webpage.

Student Access and Accommodation

Texas Christian University affords students with disabilities reasonable accommodations in accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act. To be eligible for disability-related academic accommodations, students are required to register with the TCU Office of Student Access and Accommodation and have their requested accommodations evaluated. If approved for accommodations, students are required to discuss their official TCU Notification of Accommodation with their instructors. Accommodations are not retroactive and require advance notice to implement. The Office of Student Access and Accommodation is located in The Harrison, Suite 1200. More information on how to apply for accommodations can be found at <https://www.tcu.edu/access-accommodation/> or by calling Student Access and Accommodation at (817) 257-6567.

Audio Recording Notification

Audio recordings of class lectures may be permitted by the instructor or as an approved disability accommodation through Student Access and Accommodation. Recordings are not to be shared with other students, posted to any online forum, or otherwise disseminated.

Academic Misconduct Statement

Academic Misconduct (Sec. 3.4 from the TCU Code of Student Conduct): Any act that violates the academic integrity of the institution is considered academic misconduct. The procedures used to resolve suspected acts of academic misconduct are available in the offices of Academic Deans and the Office of Campus Life and are also listed in detail in the Undergraduate Catalog and the Graduate Catalog. Specific examples include, but are not limited to:

- Cheating: Copying from another student’s test paper, laboratory report, other report, or computer files and listings; using, during any academic exercise, material and/or devices not authorized by the person in charge of the test; collaborating with or seeking aid from another student during a test or laboratory without permission; knowingly using, buying, selling, stealing, transporting, or soliciting in its entirety or in part, the contents of a test or other assignment unauthorized for release; substituting for another student or permitting another student to substitute for oneself.
- Plagiarism: The appropriation, theft, purchase or obtaining by any means another’s work, and the unacknowledged submission or incorporation of that work as one’s own offered for credit. Appropriation includes the quoting or paraphrasing of another’s work without giving credit.
- Collusion: The unauthorized collaboration with another in preparing work offered for credit.
- Abuse of resource materials: Mutilating, destroying, concealing, or stealing such material.
- Computer misuse: Unauthorized or illegal use of computer software or hardware through the TCU Computer Center or through any programs, terminals, or freestanding computers owned, leased or operated by TCU or any of its academic units for the purpose of affecting the academic standing of a student.
- Fabrication and falsification: Unauthorized alteration or invention of any information or citation in an academic exercise. Falsification involves altering information for use in any academic exercise. Fabrication involves inventing or counterfeiting information for use in any academic exercise.

- Multiple submission: The submission by the same individual of substantial portions of the same academic work (including oral reports) for credit more than once in the same or another class without authorization.
- Complicity in academic misconduct: Helping another to commit an act of academic misconduct.
- Bearing false witness: Knowingly and falsely accusing another student of academic misconduct.

Anti-Discrimination and Title IX Information

Statement on TCU's Non-Discrimination Policy

TCU is committed to providing a positive learning, living, and working environment free from unlawful discrimination, harassment, sexual misconduct, and retaliation. In support of this commitment, in its policy on Prohibited Discrimination, harassment, sexual misconduct and retaliation, TCU has a range of prohibited behaviors, including unlawful discrimination and harassment and related sexual and other misconduct based on age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, ethnic origin, disability, predisposing genetic information, covered veteran status, and any other basis protected by law. The Office of Institutional Equity (OIE) is responsible for responding to all reports of discrimination, harassment, sexual misconduct and retaliation.
